Guglielmo Hanged at State Capital.

MADE SHORT ADDRESS

Went to the Gallows Bravely With Words of Sorrow for His Crime.

DIED IN TWELVE MINUTES

Goes to His Death With a Feeling of Peace in His Heart Toward All Men and Expresses Sorrow for Awful Crime He Committed in Portland.

Salem, May 5.—Frank Guglielmo, who killed his sweetheart Freda Guasacina, paid the penalty for the brutal murder today. He went unflinchingly and willingly and with words of sorrow for his crime and forgiveness for those he holds responsible for the deed.

The trap was sprung at 12.44 p. m. and life was pronounced extinct 12 minutes later by a corps of physicians and a jury. The execution was complete in every detail and there was no perceptible movement of the muscles of the body after the drop.

It was expected that Guglielmo would break down and everyone was surprised at his wonderful will power. He controlled his emotions completely and marched from the prison tailor shop in the center of a group of officers with a steady step, calmly smoking a cigar, which he kept until he had finished a long talk to crowd, when he tossed it down with the final words: "Good-bye, gentlemen. I die happy and forgiving, and may God have mercy on my soul. Gentlemen, here is my last cigar."

He stepped coolly back upon the trap and repeated a prayer after Father Fabre, who attended him while the straps and paraphernalia were being adjusted. The only remark he made when the noose was being adjusted, was:

"Be careful, you are choking me." These were practically the last words he spoke, as the trap was sprung while they were fresh on his lips.

Guglielmo, after going upon the scaffold unflinchingly, was asked if he had anything to say. He stepped forward to the railing and talked for 10 minutes, saying in part:

"Gentlemen, I have only a few words to say."

"God bless you, gentlemen, and God bless all of the people. It is sad to die, but I go to my death with a feeling of peace in my heart toward all men, my enemies as well as my friends. I forgive them all and I trust God has forgiven them and me as freely as I have. I go to my death as did my Savior, without sign of fear in my heart and with peace in my soul. I am awfully sorry for the crime I have committed, for which I must suffer death on the scaffold. But it cannot be helped, and God knows I die happy. My only regret is that the girl is not alive today, as I would die for her in a minute."

"One thing against me is that I am an Italian, and could not get a fair trial in this country. I know if I had been in my own country I would have gotten better treatment. I don't deserve to be hanged, as the deed was committed absolutely upon the impulse of the moment and without consideration. I ask forgiveness of the people and trust they will grant it. I blame the girl's father for everything. If he had let us alone we would have both lived and been happy. But he is a bad man, and I know he will suffer as much as I have."

"I think Governor Chamberlain should have granted the only request the Italian government has ever made upon the state since Oregon has been made a state, and granted me a commutation of sentence, or, at least, a brief stay of execution. The laws of this country are all wrong, and I feel that I did not get justice, as judge, jury and all the people were against me. I never gave anybody any trouble, and always attended to mind my own business, and I do not like to die for a crime of which I am not responsible, but the law says I must, and I die happy. Good-bye, gentlemen; God forgive you all and all of the people. God forgive the girl's father for what he has done, as I do. Gentlemen, here is my last cigar. Good-bye, all."

FRENCH NEUTRALITY.

Japanese Government Not Stuck on French Brand.

Tokio, May 5.—Popular attention is now centered on the presence of the second Russian squadron in French waters. While the assurance of French relating to the Kamranh bay incident was generally accepted the latter discovery that the Russian ships continued their stay at Kamranh bay, and then entered other French ports, has created a feeling of keen disappointment, rapidly growing deeply resentful. The local press charges France with bad faith hand repeats the demands for independent action upon the part of the Japanese government. The conservative element is awaiting France's response in explanation, hoping that that government will finally expel the Russian rear admiral, Rojestvensky, from its waters.

O'Brien proprietor of the Henshaw hotel of this city. Crowe and O'Brien are representatives of the World-Herald were closeted for nearly an hour, during which time Crowe told of his wanderings since he left the city four years ago.

Crowe stated that he had served in the Boer war, fighting with the Boers. He returned to this country after the war and has lived continuously, according to his statement, in a south side flat in Chicago. He has visited Omaha on three different occasions during the past three years. He has been negotiating for several days for immunity from punishment in the case he should surrender himself to the authorities. He declined to say with whom his negotiations are being held. He says he is tired of living in isolation from relatives and friends and wishes to reform and go into business. He was asked if he had a hand in the famous Cudahy kidnaping case, but declined to either deny or admit his guilt. During the interview Crowe was apparently ill at ease.

BRITT WINNER

Champion Lightweight of the World.

WHITE IS KNOCKED OUT

One of the Most Stubbornly Contested Scientific Fights Yet Put Up.

TWENTY ROUNDS TO DECIDE

Plucky Englishman Put Up a Good Fight and Showed That He Was Entitled to Compete for the Lightweight Championship of the World.

Woodward's Pavilion, May 5.—James E. Britt of California became the lightweight champion of the world tonight when he knocked out Jabez White of England at the close of a magnificent 20-round battle.

With just 20 seconds to go, Britt hooked the Englishman with a left on the jaw and the foreigner went to the mat, where he lay flat on his back for eight seconds. He staggered to his feet, but was powerless to defend himself and Britt swung right and left to jaw. The referee to save the plucky Englishman needless punishment, stopped the contest, although White was still on his feet leaning up against the ropes in a helpless condition.

White was carried to his corner and in a few minutes revived sufficiently to make a little speech in which he said:

"I fought the best I knew how. I received fair play; but Britt is evidently a better man."

Britt's victory was, of course, loudly acclaimed by the people in his home town, but White, although a defeated man, was cheered just as vociferously for the magnificent fight he made. All through the battle White showed that he was entitled to compete for the championship honors. He is a clever boxer, an experienced ring general and has a cool head that carried him out of difficulty many times. He seemed to lack, however, one requisite for a champion knockout blow. He landed on Britt's jaw many times with both right and left, but apparently did not hurt the little San Francisco dog.

In the 12th round it looked as though White had a chance. He landed a vicious right on Britt's jaw and as the latter was off his balance he went to the floor and rolled under the ropes. He was not hurt, however, and came back fighting faster than ever. Britt forced matters all through the fight. He paid particular attention to White's stomach, occasionally swinging for the jaw. The Englishman's cleverness enabled him during most of the fight to block Britt's wicked punches for the stomach and duck swings for the head. During the latter part of the fight, Britt used only his left and persistent care of his right led the spectators to fear that he had damaged it.

But his right was in good order and he turned it loose in the 19th round when he swung for White's stomach and jaw. Britt paid tribute to White by saying he is the cleverest boxer in the world. He stalled and blocked and kept me away in a manner that was never done before, said the champion. Had he come at me and led I could have finished him sooner, as he would have left mere openings.

The fight tonight was by long odds the cleverest exhibition that has ever been given in recent years in San Francisco. Britt demonstrated what his admirers have always claimed, that though he is not a showy boxer, he is a hard man to hit.

The fury of his attack was irresistible. White's guard was beaten down and then came that dreadful swing to the face that ended the fight and kept the championship of the world in America.

George Harding, the veteran time-keeper and expert on matters pertaining to the ring, stated that it was the most clever, scientific fight he had ever seen.

Britt, after the fight, declared his willingness to meet Battling Nelson and probably the next most important contest here will be between the two men.

Papers were read on scientific subjects by Dr. Torald Sittian and Dr. E. T. Brown of Cleveland, O., and others.

WRECKED IN A GALE

Severe Gale Sweeps Long Island and Adjoining Ports.

SAILING BOATS ARE ASHORE

No Deaths Reported but There Were Several Narrow Escapes and Lives Were Saved by Rescuers From the Shore, But Loss Will Be Large.

New York, May 5.—Many small sailing boats have been thrown ashore and wrecked in a gale which has swept this section. About New Rochelle and Larchmont, on Long Island sound, at least a score of small boats are lying on the beach.

One large schooner, bound up the sound had all the canvas she was carrying blown to shreds and was nearly driven upon the Long Island shore.

Five men narrowly escaped death by the capsizing of their schooner in the waves generally accepted the latter disabound down with a cargo of brick from Haverstraw, when the gale came down and the whole outfit turned turtle.

Three men who happened to be watching the scene from a bathing pavilion, ashore, seized a power launch and put out at full speed. They arrived none too soon for one of the crew, who had been hit on the head by a brick, was about to sink.

The luckless mariners from Haverstraw were eventually all rescued but their craft was lost.

LARGEST MILL IN THE WORLD.

Weyerhaeuser Lumber Syndicate to Build Mill at Spokane.

Spokane, May 5.—The Weyerhaeuser Lumber Syndicate has let a contract here today to Wren & Greenough for the building of its Washington, Idaho and Moneana railroad, for a distance of 45 miles into Idaho from Palouse, Wash., to open its vast timber holdings. The timber is held by the Potlatch Lumber Company, a branch of the Weyerhaeuser syndicate, which owns 100,000 acres of magnificent white pine, that will take 40 years for cutting.

The company will erect one of the largest saw mills in the world, back in the woods. With its logging camps it will employ 2000 men. The company will also double its mill at Palouse. Other mills are to be built. The railway alone will cost about $1,000,000.

CITY ORDERLY

Troops to Be Ordered Out if Sheriff Requests.

ARE NEARING THE END

Threats of Calling Out Troops and Deputies Has Quieting Effect.

FEW ASSAULTS COMMITTED

Crises in the Teamsters' Strike Expected Soon and State Street Merchants Have Decided to Send Out Teams and Make Deliveries in the City.

Chicago, May 5.—The crisis in the teamsters' strike is expected to come tomorrow. The State street merchants have decided to send out 11 wagons to make deliveries in all parts of the city. As far as possible these wagons will be guarded by deputy sheriffs and in some cases by the local police. Sheriff Barrett had two hundred deputies in service tonight and stated that he thought this number would be ample for the work outlined tomorrow. If it is not, he said he will conclude that the sheriff's office and the local police will not be able to control the situation and he will make a request to the governor to send the militia.

Governor Deneen has said that he will order out the troops if a request is made by Sheriff Barrett.

Either because of the threatened appearance of the troops or because of the addition to the police force in the shape of deputy sheriffs, there was much less rioting and fighting today than on any day this week. The wagons of the express companies have all carried a guard armed with rifles or double barreled shotguns and went between the depots and express offices without serious interruption.

While there is less rioting in the downtown streets, numerous assaults were committed in all parts of the city remote from the principal business sections.

CEREBRO SPINAL MENINGITIS.

Continues Epidemic Among New York School Children.

New York, May 5.—Three deaths from cerebro spinal meningitis have occurred within the space of three hours at Bellevue hospital. Four other fatal cases were reported to the board of health by the city physicians during the past few days.

These figures indicate a big falling off in the disease. Twenty-six beds in the meningitis section of the hospital are still filled with patients.

In support of his theory that children must have proper nourishment in order to withstand the ravages of meningitis, Commissioner Darlington will today take up with the committee of physicians the matter of instructing the parents of school children as to what food should be provided for the morning meal, particularly.

"This is a most important question," he said. "There are hundreds of school children in New York who do not get the right kind of food for breakfast. As a result we have so many half-nourished little ones starting out each day in a condition that makes them susceptible to almost any disease."

CHRISTIANITY FOLLOWS ARMY.

Young Men's Christian Association Is Opened for the Japanese.

Tokio, May 5.—The emperor has notified Mr. Grisco, the American minister to Japan, of his intention to donate 10,000 yen (about $5000) to the Japanese army branch of the Young Men's Christian Association. At the outbreak of the war the association opened branches at the principal bases of operation in Manchuria, following the armies afield, and opened recreation and reading tents for the benefit and comfort of the soldiers. Three American secretaries assisting in the field work, made the movement so successful as to win the commendation of the army commanders and gained the recognition and assistance of the emperor.

ALL ABOUT THE PRINCE.

The guests included the imperial princes, members of the cabinet high officers of the army and navy and the German minister.

Prince Hohenzollern expressed his thanks for the courtesies extended to him here and abroad. The prince will give a farewell dinner tonight and tomorrow night at the Shiba palace. While in the engineering corps he assisted in building fortifications at Savannah, Mare Island and San Francisco. He retired from the service 25 years ago.

FIRE BURNS HORSES

Thoroughbred Animals Destroyed in St. Louis.

SEVERAL NARROW ESCAPES

The Cause of the Fire in the Racing Stables Is Believed to Have Been From a Cigarette Thrown Into a Stall Where Straw Was Stored.

St. Louis, May 5.—So far as can be definitely learned among the horses released from their stalls and allowed to run free during the excitement attending the fire, have been located, three thoroughbreds were incinerated in the fire which destroyed 12 at the St. Louis fair association race track early today.

The horses known to have been burned were Molly T. Irby Bennett, each valued at $400, and an unnamed maiden, valued at $1200. All three belonged to Frank Gering of St. Louis. The damage to the building is estimated at $3000.

The fire was discovered in a stall in a building used by the fair association for exhibit purposes and converted into a stable. The flames spread so rapidly that it was found necessary to throw open the stable doors and allow the horses to run free. In this manner several animals that were at first reported burned were afterward recovered, running about the race track enclosure, or in the streets in the neighborhood.

There were about 50 horses quartered in the burned section and it kept searching parties busy all night catching the animals that had fled panic-stricken from the flames and smoke. The cause of the fire is not known, but it is believed that it started from a cigar or cigarette thrown in the straw in one of the stalls, in the stable in which the fire started, some distance away from the living quarters of the stable attendants.

Building Active.

Chicago, May 5.—The Constitution News tomorrow will say: Building continues active all over the country.
